

Working title: Station Arcadia

* A well-liked concept.

Plot/Setting:

- It takes place on a different planet, where each continent is essentially a different type of -punk.
- Current setting:
  - During a Cold War. It seems as if the world is going to end, and tensions are high.
- Themes of anticapitalism, antifascism, LGBT rights, environmentalism, disability rights, and mutual aid in times of crisis should be present, as these are major components of all punk.

Character:

- Kassandra/Kassi/Kass (Host):
  - The radio host is a they/them lesbian*
  - The radio host (the main protagon) is also trans femme*
  - The host is human, but plugs into the station and tells stories.
  - Host "plugs into" the station using their eyes as data sockets as they are blind, and is constantly being surprised by how much it sees
  - Uses a cane
  - Asexual*
- Arcadia (Station):
  - Station is omniscient
  - Benevolent but presents itself as neutral initially
  - Sentient
  - Called Arrie by Kass*
- Assistants:
  - Marvin H. Roberts: Stormchaser and weatherperson
  - Lysell: Tech person, lives in the vents
  - Z: The mom friend, kinda hardcore but cares
  - Jo: Accountant

Mechanics:

- The show is presented through the format of a radio broadcast.
  - The broadcast sometimes puts other things on the air, such as found footage.
  - They also broadcast government surveillance sometimes, though they do not know what it is their broadcasting
    - It's not clear at first that it's government surveillance.

- Governments:
  - Solarpunk: Democratic, still deciding between Direct and Representative. They're in the middle of elections right now so tensions are a little high
  - Cyberpunk: Corporate "senate seats". People don't actually run for office, companies do.
  - Steampunk: Representative democracy. However, the way their system is set up it's nigh impossible to campaign if you aren't rich, and so the working class has no government representation.
  - Dieselpunk: Stratocratic Oligarchy.
